Assignment Application – Grazing Share(s) Guidance Notes

Notaichean Stiùiridh Earrann(an) Ionaltraidh Iarrtas Sònrachaidh

Assignment is the term used to describe the transfer, with Crofting Commission consent, of a grazing share tenancy from you as the crofter, referred to as the 'assignor' or 'current crofter', to a person of your choice referred to as the 'assignee' or 'proposed new crofter'.

This application form can be used to assign the grazing share(s) under Section 3(4) of the Crofters (Scotland) Act where the share forms part of a croft or under Section 3(5) of this Act, where the share has been apportioned and is deemed to be held in tenancy.

If the croft is currently sublet, you must give your subtenant 6 months written notice of your intention to assign the tenancy before submitting this application.

If the application is being submitted by anyone other than you or your Solicitor, the form should be accompanied by written confirmation from you that you have authorised the signatory to act as your agent.

1. REQUIREMENT TO REGISTER YOUR CROFT LAND

The final element of the Crofting Reform (Scotland) Act 2010 relating to the registration of croft land came into effect on 30 November 2013.

The Crofting Register is map based and provides a definitive record of the extent of, and interest in, land within crofting tenure in Scotland. In addition to showing the boundaries of land, the register also contains information on the crofter, owner-occupier crofter and/or the landlord of the registered croft. The Crofting Register is maintained by the Keeper of the Registers of Scotland, although the application for registration is made in the first instance to the Crofting Commission who will check the information contained in or accompanying the registration application against the information contained in the Commission's Register of Crofts.

If your croft is unregistered, the Commission will be unable to make a decision on your assignment application until the croft has been registered with the Keeper of the Registers of Scotland. To avoid delays therefore, we recommend that your assignment application should be accompanied by your application to register the croft on the Crofting Register.

A copy of the registration form and accompanying guidance notes can be found at www.ros.gov.uk/services/registration/crofting-register If an application to register is not submitted within 6 months of the date of receipt of this application, the application to assign will be withdrawn from our records and returned to you.

If your croft is already registered with the Keeper of the Registers of Scotland, an application for Registration of a Subsequent Event will be required should your assignment application be approved.

3. RESIDENCY AND LAND USE

Section 58A(7)(a) of the Crofters (Scotland) Act 1993

In considering its decision on this application, the Commission must have regard to:

- (i) whether any person is or will be ordinarily resident on, or within 32 kilometres (20 miles) of, the croft;
- (ii) whether the croft is being or will be cultivated or put to such other purposeful use.

All crofters are required to comply with a number of statutory duties relating to residency and management of their crofts.

4. WIDER INTERESTS

In this section you are provided with the opportunity to make any comments on these matters which you consider the Commission should take into account when considering your application.

Section 58A(7)(b)-(e) of the Crofters (Scotland) Act 1993

In considering its decision on this application, the Commission must have regard to:

- (b) the interests of the estate which comprises the land to which the application relates;
- (c) the interests of the crofting community* in the locality of that land;
- (d) the sustainable development of that crofting community;
- (e) the interests of the public at large

*Crofting community means all the persons who (either or both) – occupy crofts within a township which consists of two or more crofts registered with the Crofting Commission; hold shares in a common grazing associated with that township.

4.1 SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

Sustainable development of a crofting community will normally include the economic social and environmental well-being of the community but meeting the sustainable development criteria need not require meeting all these strands. For instance, the agricultural aspect of crofting is not always necessarily financially sustainable, but this does not preclude it from adding value to the well-being of the individual and the surrounding community. Consideration of applications should take account of the maintenance and possible increase in populations, good management practices, the protection and enhancement of environmental assets, economic demand and employment opportunities, the protection and encouragement of biodiversity, the production of renewable energy reduction in carbon emissions, resource efficiency and the avoidance of dereliction of land. There are many criteria available when considering sustainable development although not all will be applicable to each circumstance.

4.2 PUBLIC INTEREST

Crofting legislation does not define 'public interest', although it contains various references to it. It is therefore for the Commission to be satisfied that, where required on a case-by-case basis, the public interest test is met.

In exercising its functions, the Commission must have regard to (a) the desirability of supporting population retention in the crofting counties and in any other designated area where crofts have been created, and (b) the impact of changes to the overall area of land held in crofting tenure to the sustainability of crofting.

In determining if, for example, approving an application is in the public interest, the Commission may consider any evidence of the benefits and disbenefits to other crofters, crofting communities, the wider community and others the Commission considers as having an interest in the application. The Commission will also take into account the Scottish Government's crofting policies and will normally favour the wider public interest particularly where individual private interest will disadvantage the sections detailed above.

5. PROPOSED NEW CROFTER DETAILS

Please note a grazing share tenancy cannot be assigned to more than one person. A grazing share tenancy cannot be assigned to anyone who has an interest in the ownership of the land (e.g. is the landlord). Guardian details need to be provided where the proposed new crofter is aged under 16.

6. POLICY PLAN ON ASSIGNATION

Section 58A(7)(g), (h) of the Crofters (Scotland) Act 1993

In considering its decision on this application, the Commission must have regard to the Commission's policies included within its Policy Plan approved by the Scottish Ministers and any other matter which the Commission considers relevant.

When considering applications to assign, the Commission will apply section 58A of the 1993 Act as amended and its policies on residency, land use and shared management. The application should show that the proposed assignee is both able to and intends to comply with all the statutory duties and in particular that he or she intends to be ordinarily resident on or within 32 kilometres of the croft and to cultivate and maintain the croft or put it to a purposeful use which has section 5C(4) consent. The proposed assignee may live elsewhere pending the assignation, but the Commission will need to be satisfied that the assignee intends to fulfil the residency duty within a reasonable time, and may include as a condition that this duty is met within a specified period. The Commission will not generally approve an assignation where it has reason to believe that the proposed assignee will be absent from the croft or will otherwise fail to comply with a crofter's duties.

In considering applications to assign, the Commission may take into account the number of crofts which the proposed assignee already holds (as tenant or as owner-occupier crofter). The Commission's policy of promoting population retention and increased residency of crofts will not preclude multiple tenancies/occupation provided that the Commission is satisfied that this is in the wider interests of crofting and the crofting community.
